Spring Dinner

Miss Karen Steinke, well-known mezzo-soprano, will be soloist at the Carmel Valley Community Chapel on the occasion of its annual Spring Dinner, which will be held Thursday evening, March 21, at 6:00 p. m. in the Fellowship Hall.

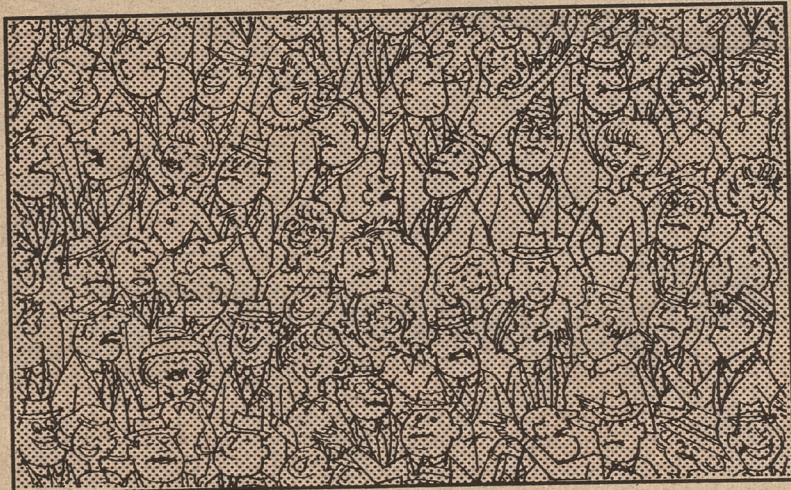

Miss Steinke, whose concerts and dramatic roles are familiar to most Peninsulans, has been the soloist at the Carmel Presbyterian Church since 1960 and appeared at CV's Tantomount Theatre in the lead role of "The Medium" last fall.

She will be accompanied by Sunzah Park.

This year the Spring Dinner (an annual fund-raising event for the Chapel) is being planned and directed by Mrs. William Wood, who has gained considerable repute as a cuisiniere during the 24 years in which she and her husband have operated CV's Robles Del Rio Lodge.

Thus, gastronomes throughout the Valley have been waiting breathlessly for the announcement of the menu, and here it is: Choice of oven-broiled chicken or corned-beef and cabbage; string beans, potatoes, Parker House rolls, choice of salads, and choice of desserts.

Tickets for these combined oral and aural delights may be obtained at $1.85 for adults and 85¢ for children, by calling OL 9-2315 or OL 9-2833.

Fog Over Carmel

An Editorial, of sorts

Gracing the front page of last week's Carmel Pine Cone was a striking cloud-ridden sky-scape and an article entitled "Storm Clouds Over Carmel Valley." The gist of the article was that "Carmel Valley can no longer be considered a rural area." Since it was not clear whether this was a complaint, an accusation, a warning and exhortation, or just plain sour grapes, we are resisting the temptation to invite the writer to drop dead.

Instead, in the spirit of friendly interchange between neighboring non-rural areas and journalistic colleagues, we should like to pass on to the Pine Cone some news concerning its own bailiwick. To this effect: CARMEL IS NO LONGER CARMEL.

It is, first of all, a traffic jam ten blocks long. It has become arty where it was once artistic; its craftsmen have been replaced by the crafty.

Carmel has developed a split personality. Its residents deplore the tourists and everything that comes with them; yet the town cannot exist without them. Its officials have yielded to the affronts of modernity while fighting to preserve the inconveniences of the past.

This is not to say that Carmel does not have our sympathy. As with any aging beauty whose very loveliness has led to her downfall, we feel that she is more to be pitied than censured. If, however, as the Pine Cone suggests, it is necessary for the residents and businessmen of the Valley to "regroup for the purpose of modifying their thinking," then we suggest that the first step be to take a long hard look at what has happened just over the hill to the west.

Trail & Saddle

Playday Sunday

Carmel Valley Trail & Saddle Club's first playday this year will be held next Sunday March 17, on the club grounds at the end of Garzas Rd., starting at 1:00 p. m.

Show Chairman Dorothy Pullman has arranged 5 events, to be judged by George Duckworth. Age divisions are: 12 and under, 13 to 17, and 18 and over. The events will be: Horsemanship, Barrel Racing, Trail Class, Ring Sparring, and Foot & Tandem.

Entry fee for members is $1, for non-members $1.50. This fee covers all events for the day. Spectators are welcome; no charge is made.

RUGBY TOURNAMENT NEXT WEEK

Skydiving & Judo Exhibitions Too

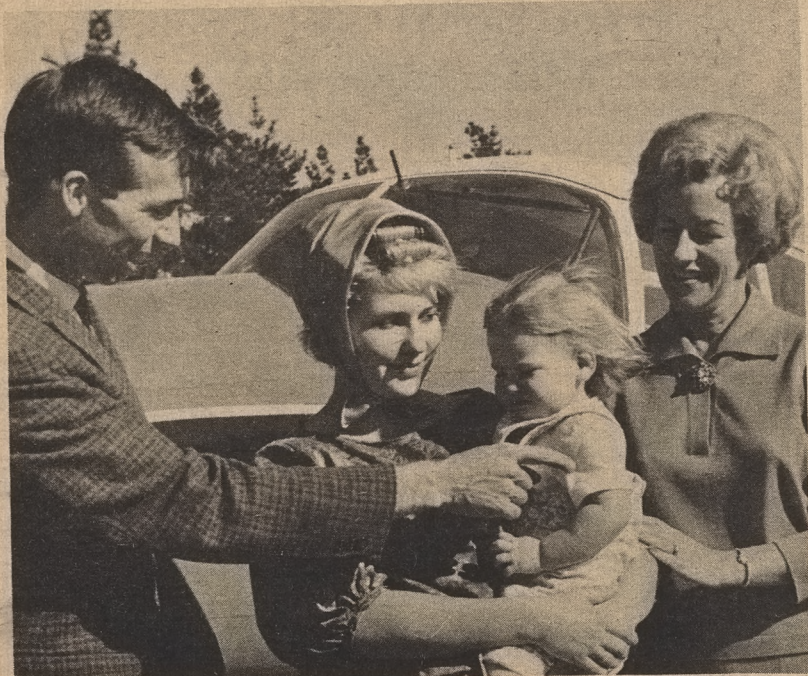

The 5th Annual Monterey Peninsula Rugby Tournament will be held on the fields of Carmel Junior High School, Saturday and Sunday, March 23 and 24, Mark Starr of Carmel Valley, who is this year's Chairman of the event, has announced. A sky-diving exhibition by the Parachute Club of America, a Judo exhibition by members of the Japanese Department of the Army Language School, and the presentation of trophies to the winning teams by Miss California--CV's own Pamela Gamble--will be among the extra attractions this year.

Sixteen teams have signed up for the tournament, including those from universities and colleges in Vancouver, Washington, Oregon, southern California, etc. Stanford University, the Olympic Club, and the University Club of Oakland will also send teams.

Starr wished to emphasize that the largest athletic field at the Junior High cannot be seen from Carmel Valley Rd., but is large enough that two Rugby games will be played simultaneously thereon.

Games will be in progress from 9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. on both days, with a charge of $1.50 per day or $2.50 for a 2-day ticket. Students and servicemen $1 daily, children under 12 free. Snack bars will be manned by the members of the Carmel Youth Center.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor,

I was pleased to learn that the Outlook is interested in developing a more permanent solution to the Carmel River flood problem than the present stop-gap method of opening the river mouth during the recurring emergencies. It should be noted that this method has absolutely no effect on the river action upstream from the Mission Fields --shopping center area, and provides very undependable relief even there.

Last year I visited the County Flood Control District offices in Salinas to obtain the most reliable current information available relating to the history of the Carmel River floods and any control methods that may have been suggested.

Apparently, the most concrete proposal (which was made by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers--Ed.) has as its sole aim the prevention of wide-spread flood damage by means of the conversion of the Carmel River into a giant storm sewer with the grading of a 100-150 foot wide ditch the length of the river from Robles del Rio to the ocean. Examples of this solution may be seen at some points along the river even now... Apparently, complete studies of the situation, including the water conservation and recreation aspects along with flood control, cannot be undertaken until a flood control zone is established by the county. This has so far not been accomplished largely because of the reluctance of the valley residents to approve the blank-check type of taxation proposed to finance the work.

Along with most others interested in the problem, I have my own pet solution which I feel would best satisfy all the requirements--flood control, water conservation, recreational facilities, scenic beauty, fish and wildlife protection, economy of establishment and maintenance, and minimum adverse effect on river-abutting property.

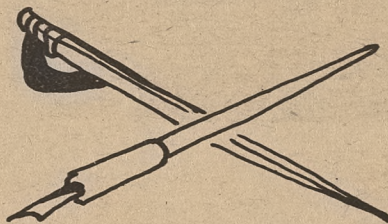

It is simply the construction of a number of low earth dams across the river to form a series of small lakes along the length of the river at favorable locations before further real estate development renders such construction impracticable. The connecting river links should be retained in a natural state as much as possible. Simple concrete spillways and gates would be provided in each dam to allow for overflow and control. The water storage capacity of the entire system would not only remove the danger of flood during the wet seasons, but would save most of the water that is now being wasted to the sea for use during the dry seasons.

Carmel Valley OUTLOOK

I was glad to read the column "Out to Pasture" by Susan Stone in the February 21st issue of your paper. More citizens should indeed be aware of the existence of a State Riding and Hiking Trail. Unfortunately, the development of this trail, and of supplementary trails connected to it, has been hampered by the fact that the State Department of Parks and Recreation was denied the right of condemnation by the Legislature at the time that money was appropriated to support the program.

As Mrs. Stone noted in her column, all attempts to acquire land for the purpose of constructing a trail in Monterey County have ended in failure, due to the inability of the Department to overcome the resistance of property owners whose land is essential to the completion of a trail. I am informed... that San Mateo County is considering the use of its right of condemnation to overcome similar obstacles to the construction of a trail in that county. If enough support could be generated, such an approach might also succeed in Monterey County. Although the right of condemnation is a very serious and controversial matter and should, in all cases, be used as only a last resort when absolutely necessary. Until rights-of-way can be acquired, the amount of money available for riding and hiking trails is immaterial...

...As some of your readers may know, I myself have an abiding interest in horsemanship and the development of facilities for its pursuit... The matter of implementing a riding and hiking trail in Monterey County is primarily one for local initiative. If those who believe in the value of such a project are willing to devote the necessary time and effort, I feel certain that present obstacles can be surmounted...

Sincerely,
ALAN G. PATTEE

LOS RICOS BUDGET PLAN

A "Budget Suman Plan" was announced early this week by Milton and Marie Frumkin, proprietors of the new "Los Ricos" family country club to be located on the 100-acre Saddle Mt. Ranch which the couple own and formerly operated as a public recreation park.

As an alternative to the family memberships payable in advance ($115 for 6 months, regardless of the number of children), the new budget approach provides for a $25 down payment with additional payments of $25 per month for a period of 4 months (the membership will, however, cover the entire 6 month season.) All memberships will include swimming lessons for children and/or adults.

During recent years, Saddle Mt. Ranch has become increasingly popular as a daytime resort, with people coming from many parts of the County to enter for an admission fee. It is the Frumkins' wish to maintain the property as a private club for a selected group of 150 families.

As the memberships are purchased, the Frumkins are depositing all advance funds in a trustee account at the Bank of America's Carmel Valley branch. If the number of memberships sold is not sufficient to maintain the ranch "for members only", Saddle Mt. will once again be opened to the public. In that event, the Frumkins agree to refund all money advanced to them.

THE LOON'S NECKLACE

Kalora, an Indian medicine man, lived in British Columbia hundreds of years ago. He was blind and would not work. Sometimes his wife would scold him, telling him that he should work. Kalora would just sit there, for he had nothing to say. The only thing that could arouse him was the cry of the Loon.

When winter snows struck, there was no food in the village. Kalora warned the village that wolves would come and attack the children, but the people only laughed. But the wolves did come and they did attack the children. Kalora went out with his magic bow and arrows and killed the wolves.

In the spring, Kalora went into the forest to look for the Loon which he considered to be his father. He heard the cry of the Loon and went toward it. He told the Loon that he could not see. The Loon said for Kalora to get on its back. Four times they crossed the river by swimming under the water. After the fourth time, Kalora could see.

Kalora tossed a necklace of shells gently onto the Loon's neck. Some of the shells broke and this is how the Loon got the necklace that it wears around its neck to this day.

WOMEN'S CLUB HEARS CHINESE CHOIR

In a thoroughly Occidental setting a bit of the Orient came to Carmel Valley last week when the Chinese Mandarin Choir from the Army Language School presented four vocal numbers before the CV Womens Club.

No performing group could have looked more American, containing as it did officers and men in the uniforms of the four armed services--Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps, plus one uniformed WAVE and two service wives. The opening number, an adaptation of the Star-Spangled Banner and the Chinese National Anthem arranged for simultaneous singing, was a strangely moving experience.

The other songs, both in melody and harmony, fell less harshly on Western ears than the works of many contemporary composers. They were stately and measured in rhythm, and without extremes of range, loudness, or tempo. The final tune could have been readily fitted with English words for a college Alma Mater.

The choir was directed by Dr. Pao-Chen Lee, who is also chairman of the Chinese-Mandarin Department. The ease and courtesy with which his students--some of them extremely young--mingled with the ladies during the refreshment hour, hinted at training other than in language alone.

A recording of the group's singing though not commercially available, can be obtained through the Army Language School bookstore.

C.V.D.O. Seeks 2 More Hams

Two more short-wave operators and a used generator are needed to complete the communications set-up for the Carmel Valley Defense and Disaster organization, Tom Waters, chairman of the group, said early this week.

An operator in the Mid-Valley region and one in the far Upper Valley (Cachagua-Tassajara region) are sought, Waters said. At present, the Lower Valley area is served by Dean Little and Jack Bruce, while the larger Village area is served by Ben Viljoen, Gene Viljoen, Reg Bennett, Carlos Mundt, and Tom Bottaro. A mobile unit is also in use and a set has recently been installed in the Firehouse.

The local group of short-wave operators has now applied for recognition as a qualified unit under the Federal Communications Commission, Waters said.

"If granted, this would mean--among other things--that in time of national emergency our Valley short-wave radio operators would not have to leave the air, as would most others in the country not so recognized. With the fine network we have here, we would maintain two-way communication with county, state, and federal governments.

Waters asked that anyone able to help with "our two remaining problems--a used generator and 2 more key position operators" contact him at OL 9-2970.

MY BROTHER

My brother is a schnook,
Never looking at a book.
Always arguing with his brother--
Never stops to mind his mother.
I step on his toys
And, like most small boys, he cries.

(Ed. Note: Although this offering undoubtedly expresses widely-held juvenile sentiments on the subject of small brothers, we are with-holding the name of the youthful author in order to protect what peace there may be in the family!)

POEM

Tom is our siamese cat.
He went hunting to catch a rat.
He went slinking down in the weeds, where the field mice go to eat seeds.
He saw something move on the trail,
But it turned out to be our other cat's tail!

MY HORSES

Tall but small
Beautiful in all ways
Cindy, standing with her tail to the wind. Feet in comfortable position. Her gaunt lines and jagged face with all her wise expressions. Her cunningness--I love her dearly.

Bangs is tall and streamlined, full of fun and race, which tingles your body. The large power and glory. The intelligent face which is alert and keen. The deep brown eyes which are full of love and playfulness. The power and the drive of his legs carries him like the wind.

Adak is small and beautiful. He is calm and accepts things as they come. He will fight to death, but his conqueror is but one thing--Love and Gentleness. His brown eyes show love and play, but also a subdued look of calm and gentleness. I love his legs--they carry him for endless miles to do as his master commands.

There never will be horses like my three--Wisdom, Glory, and Friendship. I thank everyone who has been connected with them.

See, I love horses and animals. I can't see them hurt. I'd rather punish myself if I could save all poor animals who endure pain because someone doesn't understand. Let us think before we act. Gentleness will conquer an animal before strength does. If an animal doesn't want to do something ask the question "Why!" before action. It pays off in the end. I learned that from Mr. Clark.

you've done your part to clean the ground and it shows off its beauty all around.

Under the Oaks and Among the Cactus by mildred hattan

An auto caravan with headlights on and horns blaring wound its way through the Valley to the home of Dr. and Mrs. J.J. Short for the wedding reception of Brenda Chung and Daniel Kim. The Korean couple was married in a Sunday afternoon ceremony at the Monterey Peninsula Seventh Day Adventist Church. Brenda had been Dr. Short's nurse and assistant during his assignment at the Seoul Sanitarium and Hospital and refer to the Shorts as "Mother and Dad." Among the fifty-five guests attending the reception were many Korean friends who recently arrived from their home country to make their home in the Bay Area. Brenda and Dan will make their home in Los Angeles.

Winner of the recent art contest sponsored by the children's show "Here's Albert" seen over KSBW-TV was Kathy Platter, daughter of the Byron Platters of Lower Private Road. Kathy, a Unheard of... a vacation together for Beth and Clyde Hitchcock! Plans include a stop in Sacramento where the Hitchcocks will celebrate their anniversary on St. Patrick's Day. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Simons of Iowa are running the Adobe Oaks Motel in their absence.

Washington's Birthday was the arrival time chosen by Rebecca Renee Bernstein. Born at the Community Hospital, Rebecca, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Bernstein of Laurel Dr., weighed 8# 4 oz., the same weight as her 3 1/2 year old sister, Brenda.

Members of Tularcitos Elementary basketball squad led by team captains Gary Kelley and Bob Kvenild recently completed a highly successful season by winning eight out of ten games. Games were played Saturday mornings at the High school gym against League competition from River and Sunset Schools. Coach Bob Hoover, who accompanied the players, had the highest praise for their diligence and team spirit.

Didja know that KDON's versatile Dave Bennett when not disc jockeying, vocalizing, or referring to Carmel Valley residents as "a militant crusty buncy," is also an accomplished boom-bass player?

The Silver Slippers Round and Square Dancers accepted the Taw Twirlers' invitation to attend their party night Friday evening at the Marina Grange Hall. Valley caller Archie Fleming called a "tip". Hostessing the Slipperettes last Thursday were Jeanne and Mak Makinster and Barbara and Wallace Marvin. Performing host and hostess duties in recent weeks were Nancy and "Ole" Olsen, Joyce and Walt Patton, Frank Peace, Bill Penpraze, and Annette and Bob Reid.

The Auxiliary of the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department will meet Thursday at 8:00 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Alexander Collins on Lower Private Road.

Home from a six week vacation are Sandra and Dick Schroeder. Enroute to Vancouver, B.C. to participate in a family reunion attended by 214 relatives from all points of the states and Canada, the Schroeders stopped in San Francisco for the "Farewell to the Fox" celebration. On hand to bid a nostalgic farewell to the theatre that was demolished following the show were a number of Hollywood celebrities and dancing on the stage followed the final performance.

A speedy recovery to "Dee" Slingerland, home from the hospital and surgery for a broken arm. The Ray Slingerlands live on West Carmel Valley Road.

Birds and wildflowers were identified along the Cachagua Sunday by members of the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society. The group made the trek together after forming a caravan at the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center.

Regina Howland invited a group of second grade friends to her home on Lilac Lane Sunday to help celebrate her eighth birthday. Games, refreshments, and decorations centered around the St. Patrick's Day theme.

A high fashion model escort seen at the Marina Dunes Business and Professional Women's Easter fashion show was the elegant grey poodle, "Los Ranchitos Silver Shadow" owned by Mrs. Lester Borchers of Los Robles Drive...

and speaking of representatives of dogdom, we have had a frequent amusing canine visitor with the smooth leathery appearance of a Mexican Hairless except for tassels on each paw, ear and his tail. Came the cold rains and our friend returned sporting... a red raincoat!

Mrs. Don Brill on Country Club Drive phoned to announce the arrival of a black and white pinto pony for their four children, named "Chief." One of the first things that the Brills liked about the Valley when they moved here a year ago was this type of opportunity that our area offered. Eight year old Chief was purchased and boarded on the Jay Porter Ranch while Christine and Lisa took riding instruction from genial Tom Thomsen and until the corral next door could be moved bodily to the Brill property making a riding ring for smaller fry Elizabeth and Donnie.

Called to Portland, Oregon, for the funeral of her brother was Peggy Hunt. Peggy and her husband left the Valley last Wednesday.

Cub Scout News

BY JEANNINE BOTTARO

The cubs of Den 6 will be wearing stunning new silver neckerchief slides, proud proof that their group is the one that achieved the most in the way of badges and awards in the past month. If they can keep up with this good record, they may keep them until another den surpasses with the highest percentage of boys winning awards at a future pack meeting.

The boys of the winning Den are Eric Rauber, Dan Campbell, J. G. Lusk, Paul Bresk, and Bob Haphey, under the direction of Den Mother Mrs. Enid Rauber. Announcement of this new recognition came from Cubmaster Ben Viljoen at the Blue and Gold Dinner last week.

The Blue and Gold Dinner is the annual festivity planned by the Cubs where Moms, Dads, brothers and sisters gather to share a smorgasbord-style dinner. The dinner took place in the Multipurpose Room of Tularcitos. Colorful placemats and namecards made by each Cub for his guests decorated the tables, along with blue and gold streamers and space-age center pieces, also Cub-designed.

Cubmaster Viljoen completed

the evening by presenting the following awards: Lion badge and a gold and a silver arrow to Dan Campbell, a gold arrow to J. G. Lusk, a silver arrow to Benjie Viljoen, a Wolf badge and a gold and a silver arrow to Tom Boyd, a gold arrow and a silver arrow to Starker White, a Wolf badge and a gold arrow to Bill Viljoen, five silver arrows and a first year pin to Bruce Thurston, a gold and a silver arrow to Parker Johnson, two silver arrows to Rodney Kenyon, and Wolf badges to Bud Banks, David Allaire, Ted Hall, Steven Fend, Ricky Jones and Joe Bottaro.

WOMEN VOTERS TO STUDY COUNTY STRUCTURE

The CV unit of the League of Women Voters will meet this Friday at 9:45 a. m. at the home of Mrs. John Tudor, 22 La Rancheria. The discussion topic will be "Let's Look at Monterey County Government" from both a factual and a theoretical angle. In addition, members are asked to bring their ideas for local issues which might profitably be put on next year's study list. These will be submitted to the board, which functions for the entire Monterey Peninsula, to be used in making up next season's Local Current Agenda. All women of voting age are welcome at League meetings.

FUTURE CUB

Rodney Kenyon (center) and a fellow cub amuse Rodney's little brother, Todd Lee, 5 months, who sat through the entire Blue & Gold dinner safely esconced on the stage in the Multipurpose Room, from which he smiled continually at everyone and is reported to have behaved in an utterly impeccable manner.

AT THE JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL--

Carmel Junior High recently had an Exchange Talent Show with Fremont Junior High, whereby each school sent a group of its "stars" to entertain the other. The Carmelites wanted to see their own show, however, so a special assembly was held. Top row, left to right: Gaylord Swim solos with his guitar; Patsy Stone sings "Five Foot Two"; Larry Littlefield acts as announcer. Second row: Tony Laiolo and Gerald Pullen whoop it up; Dave Erickson, Jerry Freeman, Rick Pellett, and Tim Head go along with. Below: Larry Hearn displays his virtuosity on the flute.

(Editor's Note: Recently the OUTLOOK has been asked why its picture coverage of Carmel High School is so much less extensive--practically non-existent--than that of the Junior High. If some energetic High School student with a hobby of photography will come forward, we will purchase his pictures just as we do those of Junior High students Cliff Branch and Richard Oleson when submitted. We have tried, so far unsuccessfully, to find a good High School shutterbug--and nepotism has NOTHING to do with it!--B. B.)

Kiwanis

Members of Carmel Valley Kiwanis Club were entertained at their Tuesday luncheon meeting with a showing by Jerry Cullen of colored slides illustrating camping trips he has made with Explorer Scout units.

As was indicated by the pictures of trips into the northern Minnesota-Ontario lake region and down the Glen Canyon portion of the Colorado River, the Explorer program offers older boys (14 years and up) a chance for real wilderness adventure. Mr. Cullen, who was long active as an Explorer leader in Orinda before moving to the Valley, has volunteered to serve as leader of a proposed local Explorer post.

The guest speaker for next Tuesday's meeting will be another venturesome Valley resident, Mrs. Helen Feldman, who will give an illustrated talk on her extensive travels in Africa.

Scheduled for the April 2nd meeting is a discussion by Ed DeMars, secretary of the County Planning Commission, on a subject of great local interest--the floodplain of the Carmel River.

COOKING WITH ARTICHOKE'S

BY LAVINIA DAVIS

Everyone living in this area should certainly be familiar with the delightful artichoke. Particularly fine ones are grown here in the Valley on the Sbarra Ranch and the Odello Brothers Ranch. Artichokes are not only delicious to eat, but are low in calories and high in vitamins and minerals. They are also a "fun dish" to serve, giving any meal a festive air.

Perhaps less well known are some of the many ways of cooking and serving this interesting vegetable. Our favorite recipe is the one used by most cooks. Allowing one to a person, cut off outside leaves, place upside down in pressure cooker or large pot and steam until tender; a few drops of vinegar added to the cooking water enhances the taste. Serve with either melted butter or mayonnaise.

Mrs. Joseph Sbarra kindly shared with us these unusual and delicious recipes which we feel sure our readers would enjoy trying.

DEEP FAT-FRIED ARTICHOKE'S

Use small sized artichokes, cut off tops and dark green outside leaves, then slice in half or three parts and dip in batter of flour, salt and pepper and beaten egg and deep fry. This is truly exotic!

MARINATED ARTICHOKE'S

Boil small artichokes in one part vinegar and three parts water 8 to 10 minutes. Drain, chop garlic, parsley, and red pepper and sprinkle over artichokes--cover with olive oil or salad oil. These make wonderful hors d'oeuvres.

STUFFED ARTICHOKE'S

4 artichokes, cooked
1 egg, beaten
1 t. salt
1/2 lb. ground beef
1/2 cup chopped onion
3/4 t. garlic salt
1/4 t. pepper
2 T. butter
1 cup sour cream

While artichokes are cooking, combine beef, onion, garlic salt and pepper, mix well. Melt butter. Add meat mixture and cook over medium heat, stirring frequently, until browned. Stir in sour cream (can of tomatoes may be substituted). Turn artichokes upside down immediately to drain. Remove fuzzy center, fill artichokes with meat mixture, bake 10 minutes and serve.

On The Feminine Side

BY LORRAINE TWOHIG

Hello, you great big wonderful green luscious Carmel Valley once again! I Love You...

You see I just returned from a long overdue visit to relatives in the Los Angeles area, which I have remembered with fond recollections of palm trees swaying in the balmy breezes when I lived there many years ago.

The family visit was wonderful, but where oh where are the palm trees in the breeze? All I can remember is getting stuck on the new Ventura freeway... bumper to bumper in the blasting heat, waiting for miles of cars to slowly exit at the end of the new thoroughfare, which of course has not been completed.

Arriving home in Carmel Valley finally, I knelt down and kissed my petunia bed, and gazed fondly at the children's messy bedrooms... When my spouse suggested a trip down the river on rubber rafts, I accepted with alacrity, although normally this would have gone over like buying Xmas tree ornaments on Dec. 26th.

We embarked at the bridge near Rancho Canada, and floated lazily down the "silver stream" as ye editor so beautifully described it... Feeling like a rather mature "Huckleberry Finn's girl friend", I really delighted in watching three cronies of the duck world swimming just ahead... the budding foliage of the trees in their springtime attire... The thrill of bobbing crazily over some miniature rapids... and the expectancy of what was beyond the next beautiful bend in the river. Wonderful... Brrrrrrr....

All of a sudden the wind came up and we shivered our way under Highway No. 1 bridge, to clamber up the rocks in back of the Carmel River Inn. We "chickened out", as to our goal to the mouth, but after three hours, on our voyage, we had had enough, and were quite happy to leap into our friend's hot shower, (Mrs. Lynn Gimbel of Mission Fields, bless her heart).

Also many thanks to the Will Johnsons, who came and toted us home, whereupon, after a hot toddy, we can say with love in our hearts, Vive la Valley!

Ruth and Bob Barnes Lead a Lovely Life

By Betty Branch

Carmel Valley has become something of a Mecca for nationally-known cartoonists. More ordinary local citizens are accustomed to seeing a whole gaggle of them gathered, almost every morning, for coffee-and-comment at the Thunderbird Shop, after they've picked up their mail from the Postoffice next door.

What a life! Valleyites who commute madly to jobs many miles hence, or who have their noses all but buried in the competition and red-tape of running small businesses in the Village, can only envy this select breed which makes a good living by its wits, talent, and--what else?

Bob Barnes, known to all as creator of "The Better Half" series which appears in 250 to 300 different newspapers around the world, is not able to say exactly what, although nearly everyone he meets asks him, inevitably.

"How does one become a successful cartoonist?"

You don't just start out saying, "Now I will become a professional cartoonist," Bob says. It's simply an impossibility. He himself cartooned for many years as a sideline while earning his living in sundry other ways. Once he and his pert wife, Ruth, even ran a newspaper about the size of the OUTLOOK. (That was the hardest thing they ever did, both agree.) Another time they ran a small grocery store at Lake Arrowhead, Calif. (A fiasco, Ruth says).

When ambitious young people with cartooning talent ask him how to get started, Bob says he advises them, "Go home. Draw 1000 cartoons, the best you can. Then burn them all. Then start from scratch." Of course NO one EVER takes this advice, he muses. EVERY talented young would-be cartoonist (including himself, when he was young) persists in cluttering up the desks of editors with stacks and stacks of cartoons before they're quite ready to make the grade. Most become permanently discouraged by the succession of rejections which naturally ensue.

Certainly it takes more than talent, Bob says. "Stop and think that in every high school in the United States are probably two or three youngsters who are really talented at cartooning. Stop and think how really few cartoonists ever reach the national syndicate stage. Then you have some idea of what the odds against any one must be."

STUDIO

His studio, a sort of "crow's nest" up a flight of stairs and completely separated from the rest of their secluded home in Robles Del Rio, is lighted by windows on three sides and neat as a pin. The Barnes' home on Calle de la Ventana is unpretentious, on the elderly side, and built with that sense of solidity that somehow vanished after World War II. Unglazed ceramic floors and window sills help to create the impression of warmth rest. "The Better Half" appears in such unlikely spots as the Fiji Islands--54 different countries, altogether, including the U.S.

Gags are evolved partly from inner hunches, partly from suggestions regularly fired to him by 3 or 4 correspondents scattered across the country, with whom he has worked for years. Since so many of his cartoons treat the domestic scene, he may, when momentarily barren of a beginning notion, sit down with a Sears-Roebuck catalogue and leaf through it for reminders of different aspects of domesticity.

WORK SCHEDULE

From the windows of his studio, Bob looks down on the hills of Robles, mostly at the tops of oak trees. Neighboring houses are and a timelessness of style. The place is furnished with taste and comfort, perfectly maintained inside and out. The Barneses seem like people who live an orderly life because they like it that way, not because they're worried about company coming!

"Sometimes when we visit friends in lovely modern homes, we get dissatisfied with this old place," Ruth admitted, "but then we remember how really comfortable we are here, and how well the place suits us, somehow..." Anyway, she said, they went through a stage of trying to maintain a larger place which entailed considerably more work and responsibility, and they're glad THAT'S over!

HAPPY HOUSEKEEPER

After years of helping Bob in many ways, Ruth is happy to be frankly hausfrau--and a golfer. Bob does all his own drawing and ships the finished cartoons off to the syndicate, which does the within vision, but not impinging. He estimates that he works about 5 hours a day, 7 days a week, ("one day is just like another to me.") Like most free-lance artists and writers who accomplish as much as Barnes does, he keeps a quite-regular schedule, but his work hours are spread apart--a couple or so in the morning, a couple in the afternoon, and frequently an hour or so at night. He likes having the studio in his home, so "I can run up here if I happen to get an idea," without

ANNUAL HAM DINNER

The Knights of Columbus and the Catholic Daughters of America are holding a pre-St. Patrick's Day celebration in the form of a ham dinner on Saturday, March 16. A complete dinner will be served from 4:00 to 7:00 p.m. in the cafeteria at Junipero Serra Memorial School. The cost for adults is $2.00; High school students, $1.00; elementary grades, 50¢, and preschoolers are to have dinner free.

Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Dennis Narvaez at MA 4-8421, or Mr. Odello at MA 4-7473.

LITTLE LEAGUE SIGN-UP

Your parents of eight-year olds who want to play ball, and new residents of Carmel, don't forget Little League sign-ups on March 18, a Monday night, at the junior high school student activity room! You must bring a birth certificate, which will be photostated and returned to you. Clean-up day at the Little League park is another must day for the team and parents—that is Saturday, March 23.

TOUR DE COURSE

A survey of all the courses available at the Junior High is the topic of the March 18 meeting of the Carmel Junior High Parent Faculty Club. Parents of sixth graders from all of the District's elementary schools are invited to attend, in order that they may see what will be in store for their children in the next school year.

The meeting starts at 7:45 p.m. in the student activity room, at the east end of the campus.

SUCCESSFUL POLIO CLINIC

7,384 men, women, teenagers, children and babes in arms, filed through the Carmel High gym to take their sugar cube on Sunday, March 10, for the third successful KO Polio Sunday. From 11:00 a.m. until 7:00 p.m., volunteers supplied by the Carmel Elementary PTA filled out cards, made coffee and sandwiches for the volunteers and the many doctors and nurses who gave so generously of their time to this worthwhile cause.

Girl Scouts from Troop 158 helped serve coffee and also helped with the dishwashing chores. Boy Scouts from both of the Carmel Troops helped with traffic control.

Along the River

BY LAVINIA DAVIS

All "Along the River" for the past month those from 6 to 60 have been enjoying themselves and the river as it flowed brim full to the ocean.

After the initial overflowing, which wasn't very pleasant for many living along its banks, our Valley river then settled down to just the right depth for fishermen, canoers and ingenious youths who made clever rafts.

For several weekends the Farm Center, Schulte, San Carlos and Via Mallorca Bridges became friendly meeting places for those less hardy soul who came to watch the members of their families as they floated by on kayaks, canoes, rafts and even inner tubes.

On one weekend even the whole Scout Troop #140, including Scoutmaster Preve, made the journey from Farm Center to the Beach. Standing on a bridge visiting with one's neighbors is much more fun than chatting over the backyard fence, we found! The John Otters introduced us to the fun of boating downstream, which included damp posteriors but did not dampen our enthusiasm.

Other adventurers were Larry Horan and his son Kevin. One weekend we joined Mrs. Ed Leslie and Cdr. and Mrs. Huron as we watched the adventurers in our families head downstream. Even the weather has cooperated with the "river ratters".

Last Wednesday the Cub Scouts of Pack #76 escorted their Mothers and Fathers and big and little Brothers and Sisters to their annual Blue and Gold Banquet.

The Mothers agreed to bring goodies in the shape of desserts (which small boys like best), casseroles, fried chicken, salads and punch. Judging from the amount of food consumed the dinner was a huge success!

We enjoyed visiting with some of our neighbors. Saw the precious baby daughter of Marjorie and Tom Steiny for the first time, visited with Jean and Tom Fitzgibbon, Ed and Jill Lee, and Larry and Jean Horan. To the very capable Den Mother, Betty Johnson, goes our admiration for the wonderful way she handles eight lively boys!

NEW MEMBERS APPOINTED TO PLANCOM ADVISORY COMMITTEES

by Dorothy Reed

The Planning Commission staff has announced the appointment of Louis Allaire and Newell Smith to the Upper and Lower Valley Advisory Committees, respectively. They will serve for three-year terms, as will J. K. Caldwell, and Dr. R. T. Sinclair, current members who were re-appointed to the same groups.

Allaire, who has an insurance business in the Valley Center Building, is a native of Monterey. He has lived in the Valley 25 years and has been very active in community affairs, serving (among other things!) at various times as president of the Community Center Board and of Kiwanis, treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce, secretary of the Volunteer Fire Department and member of their First Aid Team, member of the Red Cross Board, and collector in Community Chest and cancer fund drives. He is one of the Peninsula's champion blood donors, with a record of more than 4 gallons given. Allaire is a member of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church.

Smith was manager of the Motor Vehicle Department in Monterey for many years, and is now a traveling representative for that Department. He has lived on Robinson Canyon Road since 1952, and was secretary of the Flood Control Committee which operated under the Soil Conservation Department after the flood of 1958. He has hunted and fished in the Valley since 1940, and is well acquainted with its topography.

The Advisory Committees consist of seven persons each, appointed by the Planning Commission to formulate an opinion on each application for re-zoning, use permit, variance to building regulations, and design (in design-control areas) that falls within their territory. Their purpose is to provide a sampling of local sentiment in matters of chiefly local concern, and to enlarge the effectiveness of the Planning Commission staff, which cannot possibly have personal knowledge regarding every application in the County.

PROCEDURE

The Commission has recommended in writing that applicants be invited to be present when their applications are under discussion, though no rule either requires the Advisory Committee to hear them, or forces them to appear before the Committee.

According to Mr. Caldwell, who is secretary of the Upper Valley Committee, his group invites all applicants to appear, along with any other persons who would be presumed to have an interest in the petition, either for or against. Discussions are informal enough that a proposal which would have been rejected in its original form is sometimes worked into acceptable shape right at the meeting.

In addition to Caldwell and Allaire, the other members of the Upper Valley Committee are David Hoisington, chairman; Gen. Robert Bare, vice-chairman; Paul Jones, Paul Porter, and Jack Uzzell. The Lower Valley Committee, besides Smith and Sinclair, consists of Leonard Williams, chairman; Jean McKenzie, secretary; Charles Belcham, Bruno Odello, and Eugene Schetter.

La Rancheria POA Elects

La Rancheria Property Owners Association elected new officers at its annual meeting at Carmel Valley Inn last week. President is Walter Stewart; Vice-President, Cyrus Johnson; and Secretary-Treasurer, John Beach. New members of the Board of Directors are Lloyd Swanson (retiring president) and Thomas G. Cullen.

Although Carmel Valley Inn is not scheduled to open until Easter, the by-laws of the La Rancheria POA specify that the annual meeting be held there, so proprietor Al Fry opened the large lobby for the occasion and served his nearby neighbors complimentary coffee around the fireplace.

As a Valleyite, aside from his profession, Bob prefers not to become greatly involved with local community affairs, but does have some definite ideas about Carmel Valley Rd. Ruth recently had a "close shave" wherein her car was forced from the road, and he feels "it's becoming a death trap; something will have to be done about it soon." He does not think that four lanes would spoil the Valley for those who, like himself, live in the hills a mile or so above it. For the sake of those who live on the Valley floor, even on the road itself, he believes that a carefully-located four lanes, widely separated wherever possible, such as suggested by area planners Hall and Goodhue, would be ideal.

OUTSPOKEN

Ruth was more outspoken about local affairs. Their own experience in business, she declared, convinced them that small businesses cannot survive unless the owners co-operate as a business community, "but most of them are too involved in earning a living to stop to reason this out or see what is happening."

"When we had the grocery store at Lake Arrowhead," she said, "it was during the depression, and we were all REALLY struggling. Yet I'd watch our fellow businessmen drive 12 miles through the snow, down the mountain, to buy their groceries. The same people would be the very first to cry disloyalty if any other businessmen purchased elsewhere the kind of goods they carried. It didn't make sense, but it happened!"

Her husband, who no doubt has gleaned some of his inspirations for "The Better Half" from 23 years of marriage to this vivacious lady, gave her a LOOK and uttered a mild growl. She subsided.

What a shame that the Carmel River can't stay as beautiful all year round as it is right now! A few of the old timers remember when our river did flow like this, even during the dry part of the year, and when fishing was good all season long. But somehow it just doesn't seem to rain like that anymore.

And speaking of fishing, of course you know the season for all fishing in the river is closed now until the 4th of May, when the summer trout season opens.

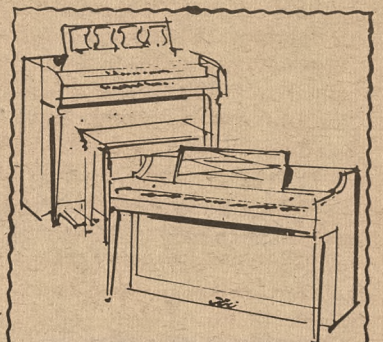

It seems that some parents feel that it is permissible for the children to fish, even tho the season is not open. Unfortunately, this is not the case. The law makes no provision to allow children to fish during the closed season.

DO NOT DISTURB

This is understandable when you consider the great number of children, and realize they could and certainly would catch all the fish in the river, long before the date when the adult Isaac Waltonians would be able to legally pursue their favorite sport. Such an eventuality would certainly prove an unfair disappointment to the adult fishermen who patiently await and look forward to that very important annual event, the opening day of trout season. Furthermore, such a policy would violate the principles of sound fisheries management upon which our conservation laws are based.

And do you know that you as a parent are legally responsible, and that you may be cited for allowing your minor child to fish during the closed season?

C. V. YOUTH GROUP

by Roger Willis

Last Saturday afternoon our group presented the movie entitled, "Captain Fury." This was the story of a Robin Hood type character who roamed the country of Australia. Next Saturday we will feature the story of the notorious pirate, "Captain Kidd." We hope all the young children in the Valley will attend.

$$$$$$$$$$$$

Last Saturday night we had a Crazy Cloth dance. There were four prizes given. The winners were Taren Tod, Darline Davis, Clayton Carter--and myself.

Everyone had a real great time. Next Saturday evening we are presenting "The Brides of Dracula" to the group.

$$$$$$$$$$$$

The membership cards will be given out Saturday, too. The members who have secured cards have to pay 10¢ every time they come. The people who have not purchased cards are permitted to attend three times at a charge of 50¢ per night. After they have been there three times they must bring a card or not come. We are trying to expand our membership.

CARMEL VALLEY GEM AND MINERAL SOCIETY

Rain last Friday night did not dampen the enthusiasm of the Gem and Mineral Society meeting. The lectures and demonstrations were well received. The refreshment break, with activities going on at the same time, proved a popular innovation, cutting down on the length of time the audience must remain seated.

CLEAR CREEK FIELD TRIP

On March 16 and 17, another two-day trip will occur. Location: the Clear Creek area, in San Benito County. Objectives: jadeite, chromite, chrysoprase, jasper, etc. Bring your screens and gold pans for this one, too.

Jump-off: From Ann's Drive-In Restaurant, next to the Standard Station, in King City, promptly at 8:00 a. m. Saturday, March 16. This can be a one-day trip for those wishing to go on Saturday only. For the over-nighters, prepare to camp at Clear Creek; there are no motels. Everyone be sure to bring drinking water, rain gear--it could, you know--and warm clothing. It might be very cold or very warm or both all in the same day. Also, gas up in King City and check your spare tire. It's a long walk out!

FIELD TRIP FOR PEBBLE PUPS MARCH 24TH

Ruth Getz has another trip planned for the Pebble Pups. A day at the Bud Howard Ranch is scheduled for Sunday, March 24. This ranch, near Arroyo Seco, is considered one of the prime fossil areas of the county. Trippers should meet in front of Tularcitos School at 12:45 p. m. and plan to leave sharply at 1:00 p. m. Don't forget your rock bag: you'll need something to put your fossil shark teeth in.

Pebble Pups are remembered on their birthdays!

This month Gary Ricupero, Mary Lou Scheid, Mike Osgood, and Linda Wilson had birthdays and were given their birthstone.

Two new Pebble Pups, Larry and Jimmy Hubert of Ft. Ord, have joined to make a total of thirty Pebble Pup members.
